

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New Physician's Assistant Joins Tri Valley Health System

(July 2, 2018 – Cambridge, NE) Tri Valley Health System in Cambridge is pleased to welcome Sarah Norton, Physician's Assistant, to their team of dedicated professionals.

Originally from Georgia, Sarah received her Bachelor's degree in Natural Science and her Master of Physician Assistant Studies from Alderson Broaddus College in Philippi, West Virginia.

Sarah brings more than 20 years of experience to Tri Valley Health System. She began her career at a rural health clinic in Ringgold, Georgia. Ringgold had just experienced a tornado through town and Sarah was an integral part of the recovery. On her own as a new graduate, Sarah ran one of two clinics with her supervising physician at the other location.

From there, she moved to Calhoun, Georgia, where she was the sole medical provider doing physical medicine, then relocated to work for Eagles Landing, one of the largest privately owned family practices south of Atlanta. Most recently, Sarah worked in family practice at the Cleveland Clinic in Cleveland, Ohio.

"Everyone at Tri Valley Health System has been great at helping me navigate my first few weeks. All of the staff communicates well, and it's nice to see that they come together and work as a team," Sarah said.

Sarah's husband assumes head football coaching duties at Southern Valley this fall. They have three children, ages 4, 9 and 10.

"We are excited to be somewhere we can stay for a while and put down roots," Sarah concluded. "The small-town mentality is just what our family needs and I look forward to getting to know people in Cambridge and the surrounding communities."

For more information about Tri Valley Health System, visit trivalleyhealth.com.